Let Mrs. Lambert Fit You

What would you think of a woman who bought eye-glasses or shoes over the counter, without having them fitted? And yet thousands of women buy their Corsets that way—and proper fit in a Corset is fully as important—more so.

Until your Corsets are properly fitted your figure will never attain its full perfection. You will never know the feeling of poise that comes with style that is correct and fit that is perfect.

Have Your Figure Fitted

By Mrs. Lambert. We especially recommend the

Mrs. Lambert's services are free to our patrons. Her expert advice in the selection of the proper model for your figure will prevent such common mistakes as compressing instead of supporting the abdomen, or failing to correct a tendency to one-sidedness—graver mistakes than you may imagine.

POST-OFFICE READY TO LOWER COST OF LIVING

Will Distribute 5,000 Lists of Persons Desiring to Supply Consumer.

OFFER MANY FARM PRODUCTS

Farmers Prepared to Supply Meats, Vegetables, Oysters, Butter, Eggs, Hams and Other Articles of Food by Parcel Post—Lists Are Free.

Printed lists bearing the names of 170 persons who desire to sell farm products direct to the consumer will be ready for distribution this morning at the Richmond post-office. Postmaster Hay T. Thornton yesterday received notice that the postmaster had mailed to him, and samples were enclosed. The names were compiled here, but the printing was done at the government plant in Washington.

The lists will be furnished to all applicants. The office already has a large number of applications on hand, and it is probable that the issue will be exhausted before the end of the week. The department printed 5,000, but will make reprints if necessary.

On the list are the names of 102 persons residing within the first and second zones, together with the products which they have to sell. Other lists show persons living on the three rural routes out of South Richmond. There are twenty-six on Route No. 7; thirty-three on Route No. 8, and ten on Route No. 9.

TO BRING TOGETHER PRODUCER AND CONSUMER

The printing of these lists is a part of the plan of the Post-Office Department to bring producer and consumer together, thereby cutting out the middleman and lowering the cost of living. The larger part of the names were received during the State Fair, when the local post-office had a booth and exhibited for the purpose of educating the rural people to the benefits of the parcel post.

Postmaster Thornton is considerably interested in the advancement of the parcel post, which has had a phenomenal growth in the past year. He will continue the work of keeping the housewife in touch with the farmer, and will get out supplementary lists of names from time to time. The next step will probably be to get up a list of persons desiring country produce, which will be sent out for the benefit of the farmer.

On the first of the local lists are names of persons who have practically every farm product for sale, including vegetables, meats, oysters, butter, eggs, flowers, plants, fruit, hams and dozens of other articles.

Stearnes Pleased With Vote. Returning from an official trip to Southwest Virginia yesterday, H. C. Stearnes, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, expressed himself as greatly pleased at the large vote cast for compulsory education in Richmond at the election on Tuesday. He said he hoped that other counties and cities of the State will follow the example of Richmond as speedily as possible. Compulsory education, he said, has been in effect at Clifton Forge, Lynchburg and Petersburg for some time.

Fined for Assault. Alfred Carter, colored, of Henrico County, was fined $25 and costs yesterday morning at a hearing before Magistrate H. S. Sweeney, on charge of assaulting Ernest Johnston, also colored.

AINSLIE DESIGNATES FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Issues Proclamation Advising Citizens to Remove Rubbish and Reduce Fire Hazard.

STREET CLEANERS WILL HELP

Department Undertakes to Remove Waste Collections From Residences, Beginning Monday and Continuing Through Thursday.

Following the clean-up plan which was so successful in reducing the fire hazard last year, Mayor George Ainslie yesterday proclaimed next week as the time in which to do immediately those things which may reduce peril and loss from fire during the coming winter.

The Mayor called attention to the fact that the fire loss of last year was the lowest during the past ten years and that it was one of the lowest in any city of the same size in the United States. It was in 1913 that the clean-up campaign was started, and that it was effective, the Mayor's statement proves. The protective measures advised by him are, he thinks, simple and easy to carry out.

THE PROCLAMATION FOLLOWS:

MAJOR AINSLIE ISSUES CLEAN-UP PROCLAMATION

"To the people of Richmond:
"In order that we may derive the benefits that may be had by the adoption of effective preventive measures against fire, and save ourselves the loss, inconvenience and distress therefrom, I respectfully urge the immediate doing of those things that are known greatly to reduce fire hazard. It will put you to some trouble, inconvenience and expense, but not as much as a fire would."

"First: Have all stoves, furnaces, stove pipes, chimneys and all fire connections carefully examined, cleaned and repaired before starting fires in them."

"Second: Clean all rooms, closets and cellars of waste, trash and rubbish of every kind this week, and place it in receptacles, if possible, near your back gate."

The foregoing applies to business houses as well as residences. The Street Cleaning Department will collect it next week, as follows:

Monday—From all houses located between Clay and Main Streets, First Street and the Boulevard.
Tuesday—From all houses between First and Fourteenth Streets, Leigh Street and the river.
Wednesday—From all houses east of Fourteenth Street.
Thursday—From all other houses in the city.

"Our average annual fire loss for ten years, prior to 1913, was $220,000. Our fire loss last year was $90,745, being about 65 cents per capita, one of the very lowest in the United States in cities of our class and larger. It was last year that we had the clean-up campaign and an extra fire inspection service. Was that just a coincidence, or was it cause and effect?"

"RESPECTFULLY,"

"GEORGE AINSLIE, Mayor."

Establishes New Substation.

Postmaster Thornton announced yesterday the establishment of a substation, to be known as Station No. 33, at 21 South Pine Street. It will begin operation on December 1, with Mr. Chittis as clerk in charge. It will make the wealth of the established since Mr. Thornton took charge of the local post-office.

FINDMAN'S BODY IN COUNTY THICKET

Walter B. Peebles, Missing Since Monday, Found Dead Under Suspicious Circumstances.

NOTE IN HAT GIVES CLUE

Card Reading "You'll Find My Body Across the Road" Leads to Discovery.

The body of Walter B. Peebles, forty-one years old, of 1409 West Main Street, was found at a chance yesterday afternoon in a clump of bushes not far from Stop 23, on the Seven Pines car line. Since Monday afternoon his friends and relatives have been searching for him. Police Officer T. W. Sweeney, of Henrico County, superintended the removal of the body to an undertaking establishment last night, after it had been identified by relatives and by papers in the dead man's pockets.

Children playing about the car line yesterday near Stop 23 found a man's hat and inside the hat was a card, across which was written, "You'll find my body across the road." R. J. Straight, living near Stop 23, saw the children playing with the hat, and when they had shoved it to him, he read the card inside. With several other persons he walked about 100 yards east of the car line, and there lying between two small trees in a clump of bushes he found the body of a man who had apparently been dead for some time. Mr. Straight immediately telephoned to the county authorities. Police Officer T. W. Sweeney was detailed by Sheriff L. H. Kemp to investigate.

HANDKERCHIEF AND THE BOUND AROUND NECK

Tightly bound about the dead man's neck was a handkerchief and necktie, and those who saw the body last night thought death was caused by strangulation. There was no evidence, however, to indicate that the man had hanged himself, as there were no trees near at hand large enough to support the weight of an average man. The coroner will probably make a further investigation of the affair this morning.

The authorities were told last night that Mr. Peebles always carried with him a handsome watch and chain. A chain was found on the body, but no watch. Papers, sufficient to identify him, were found in the dead man's pockets, but with the exception of the watch chain, nothing else of value was found.

Mr. Peebles leaves a young wife and two small children. He was employed at a poor health for a long time prior to his disappearance on Monday. He was employed at Snyder and Hundley's furniture store, and bore a good name. If he committed suicide, no cause other than poor health can be assigned for the act. The authorities are making a thorough investigation of every detail of the affair, since the circumstances appear to point with equal strength to suicide and murder.

MISSING WATCH MAY GIVE DETECTIVE CLUE

Writing on the card found in the hat will be carefully compared with the dead man's handwriting to aid in the investigation, the authorities said last night. An accurate description of the missing watch can easily be obtained, and if it is found some light may be thrown on the affair.

Why Mr. Peebles took a car going in a direction directly opposite from his home in the West End has not been explained, for it is said that he had no friends or relatives living near Stop 23, on the Seven Pines line. Those who viewed the body were inclined to believe that Mr. Peebles' death occurred Monday, shortly after sunset, and was for him. It was stated that there was no evidence of a struggle about the place where the body was discovered.

SECURES $375 JUDGMENT AGAINST MAN IN JAIL

J. B. Mosby & Co. Given Verdict in Circuit Court Against Isaiah Ross.

Isaiah Ross, colored, who was convicted last June of stealing several hundred dollars' worth of goods from J. B. Mosby & Co., Incorporated, appeared yesterday morning in the City Circuit Court to answer a civil action brought against him, and judgment by consent for $375 was rendered in favor of the plaintiff.

Recovery will be had by levying, through the city, on property owned by Ross on the east side of Thirty-second Street, between S and Kuhn Streets. The house was recently condemned by the city to make way for a street, and the sum awarded to J. B. Mosby & Co. in the City Circuit Court yesterday will be paid from the amount owing to the negro from the city as a result of the condemnation proceedings.

It is seldom that civil action follows criminal proceedings, but when it was found that Ross was possessed of valuable property and would be able to pay judgment, suit was brought against him. He was brought from the City Jail, where he has been serving a twelve-month term, and the award of $375 was agreed upon as payment in full of all loss sustained by the company through the negro's depredations.

Ross was for years employed as a porter by J. B. Mosby & Co., and complete reliance was placed in him. When his thefts became more bold and assumed larger proportions, the company began an investigation, with the result that Ross was suspected. He was arrested, and a search of his house disclosed that he had stolen suits, hosiery, silks and satins, underwear and all the finery of women's apparel to the value, the company claimed, of $200. The company was unable to prove, however, the exact value and the amount of goods stolen, and a compromise was reached.

MURDER CASES CONTINUED.

Two cases of murder and one of felonious assault, which were called in the Police Court yesterday, were continued until later dates for hearings. Frank Daniels, colored, arrested by Police Sergeant Sherry and Patrolmen Dosquett and Folke, charged with murdering Sadie Butler, will be given a hearing on November 14. Ed. Stokes, another negro, who is charged with killing Eugene Johnson, will be heard in Police Court on November 7. Emma Day, colored, was given a preliminary hearing November 13 on a charge of assaulting Richard Day with an axe.
